

ABSTRACT

A polymer bearing specific silicon-containing groups 5 is novel. A resist composition comprising the polymer as a base resin is sensitive to high-energy radiation and has excellent sensitivity and resolution at a wavelength of less than 300 nm, and high resistance to oxygen plasma etching.
The resist composition lends itself to micropatterning for 10 the fabrication of VLSIs.

CONFIDENTIAL